Rain Gardens & Rain Barrels

Discover how rain gardens improve the water quality of our lakes river and streams .

Rain gardens are attractive gardens designed to direct water from your rooftop, driveway or lawn and into the soil while keeping it on your property as nature intended.

Join the Clinton River Watershed Council at this workshop and learn:

- * How rain gardens can be a beautiful, low-maintenance way to attract butterflies, birds and other beneficial wildlife
- * How putting a rain garden on your property will help protect our water resources
- * Learn how to build your own rain barrel to collect water off your roof to use for watering plants and other uses
